

Are you getting nickel and dimed by auctioneers when all you want to do is sell off your surplus heavy equipment?

Most sellers add in random charges that end up taking away from your net return. But, we're not most auctioneers.

ALLSURPLUS

At AllSurplus, a Liquidity Services marketplace, we help businesses sell their construction and transportation inventory and equipment.

We work with you to increase your overall return and give you more control over the sale of your surplus equipment, eliminating the headaches of excessive fees.

But what are those extra fees?
HERE ARE JUST A FEW:

By working with AllSurplus, you'll walk away with more money in your pocket at the end of the day, versus selling your equipment through the other guy. See how we can save you up to 15% more on your surplus equipment.

By creating a sales process built around your needs that reduces the amount of charges that you can face to sell your equipment, AllSurplus can provide you with a higher net return.

We also offer small auctions that allow us to make sure that your assets are not competing with like equipment on the same day. Or, if a buyer has an immediate need for your particular asset, they can "Buy It Now" at a higher price, making you even more money.

Find out how much money AllSurplus can help you make on your equipment.
